

National Board for Certification of School Nurses

Exciting Times on the Way

Before we know it the month of May will be here. National Nurses Week 2017 is May 6-12. National School Nurse Day is May 10. The National Association of School Nurses \(NASN\) has many tools available to help nurses publicize and celebrate the day.

After May, of course, comes June and for many the end of the school year and the summer break. If you are not already a nationally certified school nurse this is an ideal time take the exam. The summer testing window is July 10 - July 29, 2017, and registration is open. All the information that you need about the exam - eligibility, dates, preparation etc., is on our website.

Many nurses have asked for information for employers regarding certification and credentialing. We have a page of employer information on our website at and have developed a Certification Flyer for Employers that you can download and print.

Coming to San Diego for the NASN conference? Come visit us at the NBCSN Booth #422, register to win an Amazon Echo Dot, meet some of our board members, find out about volunteer opportunities which can earn CE credit towards recertification. Learn about the certification or recertification process. We would love to visit with you.

As always, if you are already certified please log on to your account and update your account information. Remember you can update your CE information at any time, don't wait until the last minute, and upload more than 75 contact hours in case some of them do not apply.

If you are not certified and are considering it, download the Handbook for Candidates or look into taking our practice test.

Please feel free to contact us at certification@nbcns.org or give us a call at (844) 808-6276.

Are you enjoying the Challenge the School Nurse Questions in the School Health Alert free weekly Digest? Not familiar? check it out here.
