

National Board for Certification of School Nurses

The National Board for Certification of School Nurses (NBCSN) would like to wish all school nurses a Happy School Nurse's Day 2017! The board recognizes the unique contributions that school nurses make to the educational process.

It takes expertise in many areas to develop a reliable examination that reflects current practice. If you are currently a NCSN and would like to volunteer to assist in these activities, become a state liaison, or other volunteer position, please visit our website at <http://www.nbcsn.org/nbcsn-volunteers> to view opportunities, call for volunteers for the next opportunities will begin at the NASN Annual Conference in San Diego. Stop by to visit us at Booth # 422 to learn more and enter to win an Amazon Echo Dot.

NCSNs are asked to continually encourage colleagues to become nationally certified. Tell your story! The next testing window is July 10 to July 29, 2017. Registration for the exam will be open until June 10th. Information on certifying by examination may be found at: <http://www.nbcsn.org/examination>.

It is a pleasure to serve with you in our endeavor to advance the health and learning of students, and wellness of the school community, through a rigorous national certification process for school nurses.

Don't forget to update your contact information at <http://www.nbcsn.org/home>, remember you can upload CE credits anytime during your recertification cycle.
